nowadays, however, events in one part of the world eventually affect the entire planet left alone, fluid will generally continue to accumulate under the retina and peel the retina off of the eye wall (figure 3-6)